

Serpent[®] safety helmets

Go Ahead and Stare... At the Future of Head Protection.

It's not Greek mythology. The sleek, attractive style of the Serpent[®] safety helmet family will lure you in, but won't turn you into stone.

Serpent safety helmets are available in two versions: cap style and full brim. Both are available in unvented Class E and vented Class C options.

Serpent helmets protect against the most threatening of hazards, and have been independently tested to meet and exceed the ANSI Z89.1, Type 1 standard. A rotating ratchet adjustment system helps keep the helmet securely in place. Serpent also includes many comfort features like an eight-point, six-strap suspension, a soft cloth brow pad that absorbs moisture, and an ultra-light weight. The full brim Serpent offers 360-degree sun and rain protection.

It may not turn victims into stone, but Serpent will work powerfully to defend against head injuries and the elements. That's a promise.
